Harry Wilkes Easily Defeats Phallas at Philadelphia.

A NORTHERN PACIFIC RUMOR.

A Strange Swindle Perpetrated in Philadelphia—A Young Lady's Scheme to Secure Money—The Defence of Maxwell—Etc.

PHILADELPHIA Aug 13.—About 8000 people visited Belmont park to-day to witness the match trotting race between J H Chase's brown stallion Phallas and W Frances' bay gelding Harry Wilkes for a special purse of $4000, of which $1000 went to the second horse best three in five heats Phallas was first in by fifteen while Frank Van Ness held the reins over Wilkes

The track was in perfect order Betting was brisk Phallas ruling big favorite before the start at $100 to $85 and the same odds on the stand were forthcoming, in any amount, even after the first heat had fallen to Wilkes The race was eventually won by Wilkes who took the first second and fourth heats, details of which are as follows

WILKES WINS TWO HEATS

First heat—After three false scores in which Wilkes broke just before reaching the wire, a fair start was effected Wilkes securing half a length lead before the quarter was reached, and holding it all the way round to the head of the stretch, where Phallas left his feet and the gelding won by two open lengths in 2 16.

Second heat—The word "go" was given at the second trial, and Wilkes broke badly before he was a dozen yards past the wire Phallas having six lengths, the best of it at the quarter and almost as much at the half As the pair approached the three-quarter post Wilkes went up with surprising ease Phallas coming back as if anchored and on the turn into the stretch the gelding went by him like a steam holding a lead to the wire where he came in two lengths in 2 16.

PHALLAS WINS A HEAT.

Third heat—Wilkes having won the preceding heat with such apparent ease betting was completely changed and after a few pools had been sold at $100 to $80 in his favor the odds increased as high as $100 to $80. They were soon taken at the second trial Wilkes breaking so badly in the first 100 yards that he lost all chance and was a distance behind at the half mile At the three-quarter Phallas made a momentary break and Wilkes shut up a fraction of the gap but although he trotted very strong and steady in the stretch Phallas got the verdict by a dozen lengths, amid loud cheering Time, 2 21½.

Fourth heat—Pools now averaged $45 to $10 in favor of Wilkes, and layers at odds were rewarded by seeing their choice win handily by ten lengths, after being apparently beaten at the one-half mile Phallas broke badly just before reaching the three-quarters and Wilkes, going up passed him on the turn into the stretch. Bulbers, seeing that Phallas was beaten pulled him up in the last 100 yards. Time, 2 18¾.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS.

THE GREAT STRIKE IN MICHIGAN ENDED

LAST SAGINAW Mich., Aug 13.—The great strike in lumber was inaugurated at this end of the Saginaw river five weeks ago to-morrow is practically ended The mass of employees to-day will go in after up to accept the same conditions the mill owners were willing at first to concede viz Ten hours and a proportionate reduction in wages shows that they are tired of idleness and willing to give up the fight The mill hands labor 10 hours this noon with a full crew of eleven hours last Saginaw & Hill started this morning on the same conditions making in all sixteen mills running eleven hours Many men prefer eleven hours and extra pay, and the mills will be so run Others are content to work ten hours and accept reduced pay Only ten ten hour mills are running

A warrant has been issued in Saginaw City for the arrest of Representative Barry for inciting to riot against the Rust, Eaton & Co's mill He is out of the city, and will be arrested immediately upon his return.

SEIZURE OF PEORIA WHISKY

PHILADELPHIA Aug 13—Another seizure of Peoria whisky was made to-day at the railroad depot in this city The cargo numbered about 150 packages and was composed of "funny" barrels of the same pattern as recently found in a certain whole some old establishment. It is stated that this fraud ring in the revenue has so far as is known to several large concerns in Peoria. Three of them have already been detected It is alleged, imposing these barrels and shipping them far and wide To just what extent the fraud has been practiced cannot be told, but the scheme is regarded as one of the most gigantic swindles ever perpetrated upon the government It is said the entire country has been flooded with crooked barrels They are so constructed that the gaugers rods and callipers do not give a true register of the contents of the barrel When the liquor has been poured out into buckets it has been found to measure a greater quantity than the gaugers' rods showed This led to an investigation and seizure.

THE NORWOOD CYCLONE

NORWOOD N Y Aug 14—Damage by the cyclone here last night is somewhat overestimated. The loss of life so far reported includes only Michael Martin a farm hand, and Mrs David Higgibbons The storm raged over a territory 40 rods miles in length and a half to three-quarters of a mile in width The path is compassed by a terrific wind storm Damage done to the growing crops and fruit is not to be estimated The principal losers in Norwood are the Norwood lumber company the Ogdensburg & Lake Champlain railway which is badly damaged by the destruction of the track and the Lesser Brothers mills and lumber yard Over 100 rods fence and innumerable trees and sheds were blown down in the village of Norwood and in the immediate vicinity is estimated at $150 000

THE ROACH FAILURE

NEW YORK Aug 13—Mr Aaron J Vanderpoel this morning received from Secretary Whitney an official letter in which the secretary stated that the government ships would be built in the Navy yards and with men under his superintendency and with the suggestions and supervision of Messrs Loring and Wilson The latter would mean time complete the inventories as to receiving an appraisal of the boards assets from the board of five who will make their appraisal The schedules of assets and liabilities made by Mr Roach are in readiness but may possibly be held until the conclusion of the government investigations The two will no doubt be compared and the result will be placed at the disposal of the board of appraisers

PRODUCTION OF STEEL RAILS TO BE REDUCED

LONG BRANCH N J Aug 14—A meeting of the associated Bessemer steel rail manufacturers was held here this morning The depression in the industry has forced two mills into bankruptcy during the last eighteen months, and two others to shut down After a long discussion it was unanimously agreed that the production of steel rails should be so as not to exceed the demand to enable manufacturers to make rails at remunerative prices The reduction will be based upon the capacity of each mill, and will take effect January 1, 1886

WILL BURN CARRIAGE FOR THE ASHES

NEW YORK Aug. 13 The Sanitary Earthworking men in the name of an organization of business men, who, with a capital of $1 50 000 will select a site to-day for the erection of cremations at which city garbage and refuse will hereafter be gathered and burned without expense to the city or offensive odors being caused Experiments have been making for nearly a year and the result is the city authorities approve of the process The company claim that the ashes of tanned allied couple return for the outlay being a most valuable fertilizer

CONCERNING TEA SHIPMENTS

NEW YORK Aug 13—Following close upon the recent large shipment of tea reported to be in transit by sailing vessel to Tacoma, thence to be transported overland by the Northern Pacific were arrived at Jersey City at 8 35 this morning five carloads of tea being the forerunner of some 60 teas which arrived in San Francisco by the ship Yamonia, July 31st. The carloads referred to left S. F. Francisco August 9d, at 4 P. M. All leaving for the difference in time, the run from San Francisco to Jersey City was made in ten days, eleven hours and twenty minutes the tea coming by way of the Central and Union Pacific roads to Omaha thence by the Chicago & North western and thence the Pennsylvania. This very remarkable time for an overland trip was only three days in excess of the passenger schedule and was rarely if ever equalled Railroad officials expect to improve this time on the remainder of the cargo.

A VERY STRANGE STORY

MONTREAL Aug 14 Mr Frank a leading lawyer of Nebraska is expected here in a few days to produce witnesses in a case involving the right to an estate in dispute, valued at half a million dollars Stephen DesNoyes of this city emigrated to the western states some years ago with a wife and two boys His son, now a young man became dissatisfied with a farmer's life and went to New Mexico Mrs Noyes died leaving a will and his next of kin applied for and received letters of administration Another relative, however who in the event of young DesNoyes's death or the illegality of his birth would be entitled to all his property, secured suit setting forth that the young man known as DesNoyes was not a son of deceased that while a baby in his cradle here another child was substituted for DesNoyes by a woman who was near neighbor and who had adopted the child's son, and that after some years the boy who was often died and was buried in the East while the child that was put in the place of the true son grew up without the DesNoyes family ever noticing the difference as the children's ages and complexions were the same It is said that witnesses here have come forward and confessed the crime.

SMALLPOX AT MONTREAL

MONTREAL Aug 13.—The

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, FRIDAY, AUGUST 14, 1885.

THE SOUTHERN REPRESENTATIVE MAN

H. W. S.

Some days ago this paper said "Jefferson Davis is the representative man of the South." The East Oregonian asserts that such a statement could be made only by a paper "infatuated with falsity." But democrats of the South don't disown their representative man in this way. At almost every public meeting held in the South words of sympathy and veneration for Jefferson Davis are spoken, and the record is forwarded to him as a testimonial of public regard. At a meeting of 15,000 "Jeffersonian democrats" in Texas the other day Judge Reagan, representative in congress, said he wanted "the curse of God to fall on the southern people if they ever failed to venerate their chieftain" and the expression was wildly applauded. Judge Reagan himself has the character of a representative southern man (next to Jefferson Davis), or there is none. Why northern democratic journals should deny to Jefferson Davis his representative character at the South doesn't clearly appear. Everyone knows the denial is not good. He was elected and re-elected president of the Confederate states, a fact that would seem to show that the South then regarded him as its representative man, and expressions of high regard tendered him down to this day by assemblages of "Jeffersonian democrats" in the South are equally conclusive as to his present standing among them.

Nor are the political utterances of Jefferson Davis at this day at all inconsistent with those of the dominant party in the southern states. The conventions of the party simply echo his utterances. "State sovereignty" is the burden of them, and it was the burden of the platform framed by the democrats of Virginia only the other day. Of course there will be no further attempt at secession. That wouldn't do. The southern confederates are for the Union now, because there is no virtue like necessity. But they are for "state sovereignty," like true "Jeffersonian democrats all the same—just as they were in 1861, and Jefferson Davis is their representative man, with Reagan, Blackburn, Lamar, Hampton, Fitzhugh Lee and the rest shining with the paler lustre of lesser lights. What one of them is received in the South with the rapturous applause, or with the expressions of veneration and esteem that the "chieftain" receives wherever he goes?

The pretense of northern democratic journals that the South has "moved on" and left its old leader and representative man far behind, together with their effort to make it appear that his name is but "an echo lost amid voiceless mountains," makes no difference in the facts. To what point has the South "moved on," beyond the position of its old leader? He no more says that secession ought to be attempted again, or that slavery ought to be restored, than Reagan and Lamar and Hampton do. In fact he is better than they are, because at least he is not a bloody bulldozer like them, and he holds no official position through fraudulent or murderous suppression of electoral rights as they do. It may be conceded that in this particular he is not now the representative man of the South, but in all other ways he is. It is true that since the war no southern state has asked him to serve it in any official capacity. The reason simply is that he was the president of the confederacy, and is too big a man, in the judgment of the South, for any position less than the presidency of the United States. Two things make obtainment of this honor for him altogether hopeless: first, his advanced age, and second, the objection that would be made by the northern states. Yet, in fact, there could be no objection to him for the presidency that would not apply with equal, and in some respects greater force to Hendricks, who is now vice-president, and may be president any day.

ONE OF MAY

Some days ago we published an article in which it was stated that salesmen from the east, fassely representing themselves as agents of manufacturers were traversing the northwest from Ashland to Spokane Falls and from Baker City to Victoria, offering goods of inferior kinds and professing through their connection with the manufacturers to be able to make very low rates. It has been asserted that there was no ground for the statement that these salesmen were not manufacturers agents.

Before that statement was put forth we had proof to sustain it. In fact it was put forth expressly upon proofs before us. To confirm it, and at the same time to illustrate the crooked practices of men of this sort we publish herewith a letter from a leading house engaged in the manufacture of glass and glassware at Pittsburg, whose name, together with others, has been used by several "agents" and is now being thrust before unsuspecting merchants of the interior by one C. W. Dahms:

PITTSBURG, Aug. 13, 1885.

Portland—It having come to our knowledge that one C. W. Dahms is using our name for business purposes in your region we wish it understood that we do not know Dahms much less have authorized him or any one to sell our goods and the use of our name is unauthorized by us. Dahms is not in our employ and is wholly unauthorized by us to act for us. ADAMS & CO.

This is a fair sample of the modus operandi of these representatives of eastern manufacturers, and it is high time the fraud were exposed and the perpetrators refused recognition by all dealers. When merchants shall adopt the policy of concentrating the trade and refusing to deal with authorized and fraudulent "peckets," confidence will be restored and mutual assistance will go far toward relieving the business depression of the Pacific coast.

THE CAUSE OF THE SMOKE

Much of the smoke which is now drifting about over Western Oregon comes from wasting forest fires, but it is mostly from fires purposely set out by the owners of timbered land to open up spaces for cultivation. In clearing land the usual method is to "slash" or cut down trees in the winter or spring, and to leave them exposed to the summer sun till thoroughly dry. Then a match does the business. The "slash" burns to ashes, which are left of to a depth of six or eight inches to enrich the soil. This is the cheapest and best method but it has its disadvantages. Every one knows where to stop, and it is quite likely, after eating up the dry "slash," to extend to the surrounding forests. Four out of every five forest fires originate in this way. Slashings ought to be cleared away at the edges from contact with neighboring trees and then burnt toward the center, but this involves labor and it is not likely that clearers can be persuaded to follow the suggestion.

The business of clearing forest land increases year by year and so, nearly year, we have more smoke. We can never again expect to have a clear summer unless there should happen to be a succession of summer rains.

A NOTABLE TROTTING EVENT

For a long time there has been a dispute among horsemen as to the relative merits, as sires of the trotting stallions Hambletonian Membrino and Altamont, the former owned by J. B. Lindsey, of Portland and the latter by Jay Beach of Jackson county. Both have distinguished themselves on the turf here and elsewhere and each has a large "get" in this state under four years old. The rivalry between these horses as sires of trotting colts has been a feature of the "horse talk" of the past year and it is to take the shape of a contest at the park near this city in which Lindsey will put forward the "get" of Hambletonian Membrino and one of the "get" of Altamont. Each owner stakes $2,000 on his colt and the winner takes the pile. This race will be for blood, of course, and owing to the high reputation of the sires, the general interest taken by horsemen and farmers throughout the country as to their rival merits, and the high stake, it will be one of the most interesting and notable races ever seen in the state. The contest is expected to come off the last of current month and there is sure to be a large attendance from all parts of the state.

Events like this are very different from the common horse-racing, which is simply a basis for gambling, and, very often, a gambling in its worst forms. This is a trial of the practical qualities of rival horses, and it is as legitimate as a trial of speed or of power between rival steamboats. To the business of the country who are anxious for the improvement of their stock, the race will have special and practical interest. It is desirable to breed from the best blood and this is demonstrated nowhere but on the race-course. It is to be regretted that too often the pre ended trials of speed are mere games fixed in advance by gamblers, to fleece the ignorant and foolish. The contest to come is of a very different sort, and it deserves very different consideration.

There are many good horses in the state now than at any former time. They have come, many of them, from abroad, in anticipation of a fine coursing season at the state fair, and it is more than likely that we shall see some fine sport. Some new Oregon horses are in the field, among them a few of specially good promise.

WAGES AND TIMBER.

A circular put forth by mill owners at Bay City, Mich. gan, gives some interesting figures of wages paid for labor in lumber-making in the western states, of particular interest to lumbermen in this state and Washington territory. It was these rates against which the recent strike was made. In the highest wage column the highest figure was $4 and the lowest $3. In the lowest wages column only one item reported as little as $1 13½, and none more than $1 50. The lowest average for all operatives in any one establishment was $1 01¼ and the highest $2. These statements were made in answer to the complaint the men could not live on the wages. The highest wages column does not include superintendents, bookkeepers or office workers. The circular cited above asks the question why manufacturers can not pay as high wages as formerly, and answers it by explaining that their raw material, the standing timber, costs on the average $5 per thousand in place of seven cents of thirty years ago, and in the meantime the average quality has run down so that, in spite of increased prices for both better and common qualities, there is little if any margin on a formidable percentage of the total product. Those who have made the great profits are the owners of the standing timber who, thirty years ago, bought the 6,000,000 feet for which last year they received $30,000, or $1 25 per acre, or $240 000 from the United States government. It seems hardly possible that standing timber anywhere can be worth $5 per thousand, but it is a fact. The time will come, and, too, within thirty years when available timber in this country will bring as much. A knowledge of this fact ought to make people careful to preserve our forests instead of carelessly or wantonly destroying them.

Thirty-eight thousand dollars is certainly a poor showing for the grant monument fund which it is proposed to make a million. There are several reasons why people who would glady contribute to do honor to Grant's memory do not send in their contributions. One reason is that the burial is at New York city, and another is the feeling that there has been unseemly haste in this matter. Grant's eyes were hardly closed before a "monument association" with an imposing list of officers was organized. There was indecent haste in getting to business. It is to be hoped that the monument association will wait upon the offerings of the people and not organize a dunning system to annoy the public and to discredit Grant's memory. There is no danger that the people of this nation will leave Grant's remains unhonored by a suitable memorial, but a simple one freely given would be better than the grandest monument rudely begged for.

Who is the Oregon Junius? Who is our Seat Nominis Umbra? Who wrote the letter? Who has the honor of an autograph letter written by a president of the United States, denouncing him for his "lying and treacherous regrant nations"? Will he frame that letter for preservation as a family heir-loom? Whenever a poll local sensation is wanted Oregon has a habit of coming to the front. It must be owned that the famous correspondence about that United States judgeship reveals a state of morals in the democratic party hat is altogether characteristic. 'Turn the rascals out.'

There is no end of conjecture and comment on the correspondence about that appointment which some good man recommended and then protested. In the talk yesterday on the streets a good many was said. "Had I written that letter," said the speaker, "I would write another, telling the president how deeply aggrieved I was by the tone of his reply. I would tell him that I had reason to suppose from his own example, that an honest and full confession like that would make amends for any mistake or misconduct. Right there the laugh came in.

The lovelund Plaindealer, democratic organ of Northern Ohio, in an article on the democratic convention of that state, to be held next week, says: "The platform need not be long, and there is no reason to suppose there will be any trouble about it. It will only need to indorse President Cleveland's administration, demand that it depose all those in the offices, and reaffirm the principles that the party has stood by these twenty years." How encouraging for the mugwump reformer!

The Boston Advertiser gives the president two years to show whether he proposes to put the civil service on a business basis or not. The mugwumps, says the Philadelphia Press, are expected to keep their courage up in the meantime. They have a long night before them.

GRANT'S FATALISM.

Worried by a Presentiment that was in a Measure Realized.

Baltimore News.

"Gen. Grant," said an old personal friend last night, "had a presentiment the day before he was inaugurated president that some kind of a serious accident would occur about the capitol in connection with the inauguration ceremonies. He warned a number of his friends at the time to be extremely careful in every detail. When asked what character of accident he feared he replied 'I don't know but I think something will fall down—that some of the stands will break down.' This fear affected him so much that he asked an army engineer to make a thorough examination of the supports of the immense stand erected on the east portico of the capitol. The test was made by allowing five or six hundred persons to go on it early that morning. It was found that everything was all right, and a report to that effect was made to him a short time before the ceremonies had begun. I don't doubt your report said Gen. Grant, but I still fear that something will occur there that will be very unpleasant to me. As the ceremonies were about being concluded Gen. Grant's aged father stumbled over a wire which had been inserted to level the capitol steps and seriously injured his leg. It was at first thought that he had broken the leg, but it turned out that it was only severely sprained.

A few days after reaching the White house after the inauguration one of the first men he met there was the engineer officer who had reported that everything was safe. He inquired if his report had been verified. In a moment a servant came flying down the corridor, and Gen. Grant's father was quick as he saw him Gen. Grant stepped up to the carriage, and thinking he had not before heard anything of the accident he related, "but there were hurt much. The old gentleman informed him that he was not injured much, but that his son was very severely injured. I am glad said Gen. Grant that it is not worse, but I felt that something would occur. It took a week's full nursing before the elder Grant was able to be about.

NOTE AND COMMENT.

Gen. Middleton receives $20 000 or suppressing the Riel rebellion.

New York contains forty one square miles of territory and Chicago thirty five.

Even little wars are expensive. The cost of the Canadian expedition to suppress the half breed rebellion in the Northwest territory amounted to about $4,000 000. The cost to Riel is his head.

The population of Ireland in 1845 was upwards of 8,000,000. It now less than 5,000,000. During the same time the population of Scotland has increased over 30 per cent. English landlords are scarcer in Scotland than Ireland.

A pulley thirty four feet in diameter and eighty three inches wide has been made in England. The rim will have a velocity of 9,000 feet a minute. There are grooves for thirty two ropes and together they will transmit 1280 horse power.

Gen. Grant, when in London, expressing his thanks for his admission to the floor of the city, said: "Although a soldier by profession I have never felt any sort of fondness for war, nor I have never advocated it except as a means of peace."

The late Johnny Skae, according to a San Francisco correspondent, "was no, no one than many another Comstock millionaire by birth, with very few exceptions," he adds, "they were beasts, who rotted their brains and slew their bodies with every kind of coarse debauchery."

Speaking of negative part nals it is worthy of special remark that President Cleveland's secretary of the treasury is still chairman of the New York democratic state central committee. That is to say the head of the national treasury also boss of the New York democracy.

Somewhat astonishing is the fact that the formerly notorious Victoria Claflin Woodhull is married in London to John Biddulph Martin, a wealthy banker, whose cousin, George Biddulph, is married to the daughter of Lord Salisbury, who is connected by marriage with Lord Salisbury.

Charles Neuville died a few days ago in the Ohio state prison. Mr. Neuville was incarcerated for bigamy. He married his fifteenth wife just prior to his arrest and conviction. He claimed to be a Russian count. His numerous wives were not present to render his last hours impressive.

The rather sarcastic remark is made by the New York Tribune that Chicago will have to be content to Grant built and mortgaged. It has already appointed its committees. It might also be added that Chicago may have its mortgage paid off by the time the New York succeeds in building the rest of the country to pay for building its monument.

It is interesting to observe that the march of events has persuaded Gen. Wolseley to take a rather kindler view of Gen. Grant's military achievements than he did a few months ago. Now he refers to the American hero as "one of the greatest soldiers of our time" and one of the most brilliant leaders of men. It appears that the Soudan campaign has increased the British admiration for a good deal easier to talk about conquering peace than to conquer the.

Long John Wentworth, of Chicago, proposes to spend $50 000 in the erection of a monumental statue to Illinois' own Hall McCartney. Like the rest, he will be resolved that his statue shall be put up even though he had to thrash him to death to make it go. If Long John has resolved that positively, he should remember that even if he has to spend a fortune in rearing a granite and bronze monument. As the possessor of millions he is for ornately able to do it.

It is announced and the public will receive the announcement with pleasure that Gen. John A. Logan has a volume of war reminiscences in the press. The St. Louis Globe-Democrat is responsible for the statement that Black Jack will in some important issues of fact take Gen. Sherman's "Memoirs to task. Logan has rested uneasily for ten years under what he considers the unjustice done to him by Sherman. He especially bore about Sherman's account of the battle of Atlanta in which he receives very little of the credit which he believes to be due him.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

WHO THE FISHING LAW VIOLATED?—The employes at McCloud's fishery, at Celilo, have been arrested on a charge of violating the law for the protection of salmon. The complaint was made by Seaford Bros., fish dealers, of The Dalles. The McCloud fishery is principally owned by Capt. Geo. D. Whitney of this city, who has expended from $15,000 to $20,000 in endeavoring to inaugurate and successfully carry on the business of shipping fresh Columbia river salmon to the East. To this end he has had built a large "cold storage house" and used in a large supply of ice, and was thus enabled to store the fish caught in June and July, when they were plentiful and when the price was low at the East on account of so many being shipped. These fish he has been shipping fast since the season closed, on August 1st, at which time his fishing wheel was shut down. He has had some men employed in catching steel heads and blue backs with dip nets since that time; but as has been held by both Judge Bennett and Judge Scott, these fish are not considered salmon within the meaning of the law. This law for the protection of salmon provides a penalty for having Chinook salmon in possession or offering them for sale, but when that law was made there was no thought of "cold storage houses" in the minds of the legislators. The law, like all other laws, must be construed, and if a man catches salmon in the season and preserves them, there is no court or jury in Oregon who would find him for selling them after the close of the season.

IT WAS HIS INSTINCT.—A well known sportsman, who is spending his vacation at the beach, has a very fine hunting dog of which he is very proud, and of whose almost human intelligence he is inclined to be boastful. Walking along the beach a day or two since with a friend, he began as usual to dilate upon the merits of his favorite, who was trotting behind him, some distance. Presently the dog began rolling and rubbing himself on the sand, and his master called attention to this scheme of the dog's to rid himself of fleas as proof of his unspeakable intelligence. The friend remarked that he thought it more was a decaying sturgeon buried where the dog was sprawling. "Do you think so," said the owner of the purp, "come here, you —, come here, sir." The dog came up smelling like a glue factory, and the owner spent the rest of the day throwing sticks in the water for him to swim after, and he has come to the conclusion that instinct is more powerful than reason in his dog.

ALL NIGHT ON TOP OF A SNOW PEAK.—On Tuesday of this week a party returned to Eugene from a trip to the summit of the Three Sisters. Two of the party, Messrs. S. B. Eaking and C. W. Judkins, being anxious to make a series of observations, made the ascent of their little peak August 5, and remained over night. They took blankets, spread them in a rocky crevice on the top of the peak, with snow on one side, rocks to assist them and on the other side, and managed to keep fairly warm, but could not sleep. Of course they had no fire. The elevation above sea level was found to be nearly 10,000 feet. Although the wind blew so fiercely as to chill them through in a few moments, the lowest point reached by the thermometer was 34 degrees. It is believed that previous to this no man has passed the night on the summit of any One can peak so high as this one. If so, THE OREGONIAN will be pleased to hear of it.

YELLING CUR.—A gentleman who resides out of the city and rides in to his office every day complains that he is greatly annoyed by a host of yelping curs which pass barking at his horse's heels, and frighten the spirited animal, and some of the dogs even attempt to seize him by the legs. He is of opinion that there are scores of useless curs around town which call the attention of the dog killer, and he much regrets that this same dog killer is now in our midst. He expresses his intention of rewarding this official for any unusual show of activity display in the calling by presenting him with a bob-tailed shroud, that is a negotiable. There is no doubt that there are too many useless, worthless dogs in the city, and if the dog killer would make a raid upon them and take along the loyal killer with him, they would both find employment at the same places, and the cause of much benefit to a suffering community.

VISITING MINISTER.—Among the passengers on the incoming steamer, the name of Rev. James Eells, D. D., appears. Dr. Eells was for some years the pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Oakland, Cal., one of the most influential churches in that state. For the past few years Dr. Eells has been filling the pulpit of the Second Presbyterian church, Cincinnati, to which church the Rev. George E. Hays, D. D., of Denver, Col., has been called, and from which church Dr. Eells has just received a call to become president of the Theological seminary in Oakland, Cal. Having accepted this position, and having been cordially invited by the Rev. E. Trimble Lee to visit Portland and the Northwest, in order that he may be acquainted with the field which he will have in California, Dr. Eells will preach in Calvary Presbyterian church on the coming Sunday, both morning and evening.

VOGEL TAKES IN THE ASTORIANS.—Vogel, the tailor, has been doing Astoria, and the Astorian tells us the following view of the matter: "Notwithstanding that we warned everybody about the notorious fakir Vogel, he has been operating, and has arrived in town the night before, he found a dozen suckers yesterday who contributed $2 50 each to his game. The only way to beat that fellow is to let him alone. He is the slickest and sharpest of the whole gang. One of the boys was out at the hook yesterday was squealing about "the city coi nell giving him a license." They did just right in giving him a license. He ought to have one rite along. He pays $10 a day for it, and it is worth that to find out how many consummate idiots there are in town." The surest way to find that out is to count the people who don't read the papers.

CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE COMING.—There arrived at Mammoth hot springs, Yellowstone park, last Friday, the chairman, Congressman Wm. S. Holman of Indiana, Joseph G. Cannon of Illinois, and Thomas Ryan of Kansas. They are the congressional committee appointed to examine the management of the park and of the Indian reservation, and they expect to arrive in Portland between the 20th and 25th inst. They are accompanied by Miss Holman daughter of "the watch dog of the treasury," Mr. Leedom, sergeant-at-arms of the house, and James C. Courts, chief secretary of the house committee on appropriations. None of the party have ever visited the coast before.

TO-MORROW'S EXCURSION.—The trip of the Multnomah on Saturday from Alder street at 2 P. M., will afford those who are free, from noon that day until Monday to get a view of the Columbia, the bar and beach by daylight. There will be no all day ride but a quick trip, a evening of pleasure at Ross's opera house, a ride to the beach, an ocean dip and good meals—the kind one wants to get away from home—fish, clams and crabs in plenty. The cost of the trip is greatly below any yet offered. There will be no tiresome ride, but a pleasant time in every way. Tickets at Allsky's, the leading stores and on the dock. The party will be limited, so that crowding will be out of the question.

NEAT EQUESTRIAN TRICK.—A very curious incident is reported by a Fifteenth-street car-driver as having happened on the Fifteenth-street bridge yesterday. A gentleman was driving across the bridge in a sulky and when near S street the horse slipped and fell upon his side, throwing the driver, still holding the lines, sprawling upon his back. The horse sprang to his feet with the driver, who plumbed the driver back into his seat without doing him any damage. If the driver will announce when he will try that feat again he can rest assured of having a good audience, as he will be sure to bet that he cannot do the trick again. If he does he can secure an engagement in Robinson's circus.

THE CIRCUS.—Old John Robinson is going to spread his village of tents down on B street near where Cole showed last season. As the time approaches for the great show the little ones and the middle-aged and the old folks are getting more and more excited. The name of John Robinson has been before the "American public as a showman ever since the "present generation" of old men were small boys, and some how or other it's a sort of a guarantee—the name blown in raised letters on the bottle—that there's going to be a rattling good show. It will be here next Monday and Tuesday, and there will be two performances daily.

NORTHWEST SPORTSMEN'S CONVENTION.—A convention of sportsmen of the Northwest will be held at Seattle on the 21st, 22d and 23d of the present month for the purpose of organizing a Northwest Coast Sportsmen's association, the object of which will be to secure better and more uniform laws for the protection of game and fish in this region. In connection with the convention there will be given under the auspices of the Seattle Rod and Gun club, a grand shooting tournament, in which all organized clubs of the Northwest are invited to participate. The Multnomah Rod and Gun club will send delegates to the convention and teams to contest for the prizes offered.

THE ATHLETES WIN.—Quite a number of spectators assembled to witness the race between the Oarsmen and Athletes of the Willamette rowing club last evening. A boat from the Portland Rowing association preceded the contestants to the course through the narrow canal boats from the river. The Athletes: T. N. Donlar, bow; H. Ehrling, No. 2; A. M. Donaldson, No. 3; S. Dunbar, stroke. Had it all their own way from the start, the Oarsmen: G. F. Wiest, bow; H. Martin, No. 2; A. McAlpin, No. 3; Jo an Gill, stroke, coming in badly tangled. The course was two miles long, and was covered by the winning boat in 15 minutes, 20 seconds.

FINE PEACHES FROM JACKSON COUNTY.—Ben Raymond, of Rock Point, Jackson county, has sent to THE OREGONIAN a box of peaches raised in Sam's valley. He forgot to mention the variety, they are large, firm and juicy, richly colored and remarkably fine bouquet; equal in every respect to the best class California fruit. It used to be the saying that Oregon was unsurpassed on everything in the fruit line except grapes and peaches. From the way several sections are showing peaches this season it will not be long until grapes alone will be the fruit product in which we are lacking.

IDENTIFIED.—An inquest was held yesterday on the body of the child found near Bonneville. It was identified as Marsella Snyder, aged 5 years, who was drowned by being swept over the Cascades last Saturday. The jury returned a verdict of accidental drowning. The body was interred in the cemetery at Bonneville. Should the bodies of the father and mother of the child be recovered they will all be taken to Roseburg for burial. If the parents' bodies are not recovered that of the child will be taken there this winter.

CONCERT EXTRAORDINARY.—On the excursion Friday, the 21st—one week from to-day—(Portland to Fort Canby and the light house and return in one day), a concert 100 miles long, free to all, will be given, consisting of vocal and instrumental music of an excellent character, on board the steamer Lurline. The programme will begin shortly after leaving Astoria on the home trip, by moonlight. This excursion is as promising for success and enjoyment as any proposed this season. Tickets are being engaged rapidly.

LOST BOY.—Paul Dubrkoop, the 11-year-old son of Charles B. Dubrkoop, residing at the corner of Twenty second and S streets, left his home last Monday morning, since which time nothing has been seen or heard of him. His parents are nearly distracted over the lad's unaccountable disappearance and fear a fatal accident has befallen him. The boy is rather small for his age, but well built; is fair, has a thin, eyes blue, and his light hair is cut very short. He wore, when he left his home, a blue flannel shirt, dark gray trousers and a brown felt hat.

SEVERE CUT.—While at work in No. Two's house, yesterday with an axe, C. C. Dobelbower, first asst stant engineer of the department, made a misstrike and the blade struck him on the back of the left foot, just below the ankle. It made a deep cut, half way severing the tendon. The wound received immediate attention, and it is thought Mr. Dobelbower will not be permanently injured, though it may take many months before he recovers the full use of his limb.

ANOTHER BODY FOUND.—The crew of the steamer Dixie Thompson yesterday found the body of a man floating in the Columbia a short distance below Booster Rock. A small boat was sent out and towed the body to the shore. It was clad in trowp overalls and red flannel undershirt, and is supposed to be one of the men who went over the Cascades a few days since. Coroner Cooke was notified and will hold an inquest as soon as possible.

SAFE ROBBED.—The safe in the office of Merrifield & McKean's carriage factory was broken open and robbed during Wednesday night. The burglar mastered the combination of the safe, and there being no inner door to the then-frail plain safe. He pried open the wooden drawers, and also the steel drawer, and secured $83 in cash, and scattered books and papers around promiscuously.

TO FORECLOSE MORTGAGE.—Emil Wolter began suit in the circuit court yesterday against Frank Lavine, Joseph Riddell and others to recover $1200 on a promissory note given July 17, 1884, and to foreclose a mortgage given as security.

ROUND TRIP IN ONE DAY.—On Saturday the Telephone will make a round trip to Astoria, leaving Portland at 6 A. M. Returning leaves Astoria at 2 P. M. Direct connections will be made to Tillamook.

THE GREAT TROT.

It will Come Off at City View Park Monday, August 31.—The Forfeit of $3000 Put Up—Details Arranged.

Yesterday Jay Beach put up a forfeit of $1500 to trot one of the get of Alcmont against one of the get of Bambletonian Mambrino, and that amount, together with the $1500 put up last week by L. B. Lindsey was placed in Ladd & Tilton's bank. The proposed contest was "done up in writin'," duly signed by Messrs. Lindsey and Beach. The agreement provides that the race is to come off at City View park Monday, August 31, at 2 P. M., best three in five heats. The regulating $1000 stakes on each side is to be paid in before noon on the day preceding the race, and the horses are to be named before 5 P. M. on the day preceding. J. T. Apperson was selected as one of the judges, and the other two are to be chosen on the day before the race.

WHAT HORSES WILL TROT?

A "Portland man who is pretty well informed on all turf matters in this state, said to an OREGONIAN reporter that he could make a close guess on what horses each owner would choose for the contest. Beach has Nellie Mac, a mare lately owned by J. L. Hallett, but the mare has not showed quite enough speed this summer to risk her in so important a trial, unless it be absolutely necessary. Lindsey has a horse in southern Oregon, a splendid animal, and it is known that Beach has telegraphed for him to be shipped to Portland. He will be show up better than Alcmonette, he will probably be entered. In that case Ed Allen stands ready. The choice is supposed to lie between Capt. Sorenson's Susie S. and William M. Ladd's Jane L. I so our information goes. Susie S. is just getting over an attack of distemper, but is "coming to" in good style. Jane L. is a mare of very fine record, she was in first years ago, and the probabilities are that she will be chosen to represent the Humboldtonian family to the great contest.

The proposed race has created no little excitement among lovers of horse flesh in this community, and the event will no doubt be witnessed by thousands from every section of the state.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

PORTLAND, Aug. 13, 1885.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

In this morning's OREGONIAN appears an editorial criticism of the course of study for the primary schools of this city.

Those who have made themselves familiar with this course of study, not by having it "explained by an adroit and smooth-tongued professor," but by examining it as it is actually taught, know that the strictures made in the second paragraph of the editorial referred to are without any foundation whatever.

The present course of study, not only for the Primary school, but for the Grammar school and the High school, was compiled two years since by a committee consisting of the principals of the several schools—Messrs. Pratt, Warren, Roby, Misses Sabin, Barnhart and Parker and myself. We sought the advice, consulted the experience and received the hearty co-operation of our best teachers in each department; nor did we overlook or ignore the published courses of study in other cities. In but few particulars does the printed course of study differ from that which had been in practical use for the five years prior to its publication in permanent form. In fact the time for completing the primary and the grammar school work was extended from six years to eight years. This change required a recasting of the course of study. During the two years and more since the change the work was in manuscript only. Having made all the amendments and changes deemed necessary, as to details, we recommended to the board of directors that the work be issued in printed form, and it was so ordered. So much for the authorship of this "outrageous system."

Your recommendation to have the board of directors examine the primary course and compare it with that in San Francisco, with a view of any other city—meets my hearty approval.

Five years ago a committee was appointed by the taxpayers to examine the schools. That committee visited the principal cities of the country—then in manuscript—and heard classes in every branch taught. A part of that committee—Mrs. C. L. Henderson and Mrs. Rosa F. Burrell—visited every room in the city. Other members of that committee visited various departments from time to time during the four months the committee were conducting their investigations. At a public meeting held July 22, 1880, this committee made a report which may be found in full in the school report for that year. In it the question of classification and the courses of study they submitted the following:

Resolved, That in our judgment the Portland public schools are well graded and classified in the primary, grammar and higher departments.

Resolved, That the text books used, with a few named exceptions, and the courses of study are fully adapted to the various classes as their every day and easy progress from term to term indicates.

But if a new committee is a public necessity, by all means let it be appointed. This committee should begin in September and pursue their investigations for a term of five months. This would give them ample time to note the progress of each class from day to day; to mark the grade and class in which the pupils begin on those "pages on pages of definitions," to check off the hours per day spent on "tables of addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, etc., unaided by a practical use of numbers," and to tell us just when and where they found those "other" items in the Portland course which only tax and weary the spirits of children, and in which there is no attraction of interest and no mental discipline."

No one is more interested with the present system of schools has claimed perfection for any course of study either in common schools, academies or colleges. Every such course is the result of conference, and the work of the board of the [illegible] charged with such work. Entire familiarity in such matters has never been attained.

That our course of study can be improved, no one can contend with the slightest confidence be questioned. The subject is discussed at nearly every meeting of the principals and superintendent. It is a well known fact, at least in school circles that not a single member of that committee save his or her unqualified approval of every part of the course of study; individual opinions and theories were accepted or rejected as the committee chose. It has been the pure use of the committee for a year past to make an effort to recast some portions of the work.

The first meeting in September will have the matter under consideration. It is a very easy matter to find fault, but quite another undertaking to find a successful remedy for that fault.

Before closing, I wish to protest earnestly against a sort of indian or backwoods style of attack resorted to by a few self-appointed critics of the public schools. It may be proper and polite to any or such style in discussing sewers, crosswalks, street improvements, or the dredger, but in discussing the management of the schools, I insist in knowing who these critics are. Those who have complaints to make should be manly and womanly enough to attach their full names to every public or private communication. This irresponsible style of "calling the attention" of the editor to defects; making wholesale charges against the schools over such signatures as "Pond Parent," "Anxious Mother," "Taxpayer," etc., is to be gifted to say the least. It is an open confession of weakness, of moral cowardice. The schools with not suffer from open, frank, intelligent criticism. Whatever of real value the public school system of this city, or that of any other city, has attained is due, in no small degree, to the fact that the schools are the heritage of the whole people and are, therefore, proper subjects for inspection by every individual member of the community in which such schools are conducted. But let us be the men and women we should be, holding ourselves personally responsible for our utterances, both private and public, on such important matters. Very respectfully,

T. H. CRAWFORD, City Supt.

This is a reduction of 35, 33 and 25 cents per 100 lbs., from the points named respectively.

ALASKA'S NEW GOVERNOR.

Arrival of Hon. A. P. Swineford, of Michigan, and Party—The General's Views of Alaska's Lumber Interests.

Yesterday morning, Hon. A. P. Swineford, the newly appointed governor of Alaska, accompanied by Messrs. E. K. Cowles, John McKenna and J. C. Fuller, arrived here by the Pacific express, and are registered at the Esmond. Capt. Cowles was recently appointed by Governor Swineford, commissioner to represent Alaska at the New Orleans exposition, and his object is to collect specimens. An appropriation of $3000 has been made for this purpose. Mr. McKenna is a deputy United States marshal. Mr. Fuller goes on private business, presumably to examine what our northwest possessions offer to the lumberman in the way of investment. The party will leave to remain here or hereabouts until the September steamer, unless they find a stray vessel go up north, which is not at all likely to happen.

Governor Swineford is an old miner, and has been engaged in the development of the iron and copper interests of Northern Michigan. He is the owner of the Daily Mining Journal, of Marquette, and is an old journalist. To an OREGONIAN reporter who called to see him, Governor Swineford said that he had started to Alaska abruptly without instructions, either from the president or the department of the interior. His only desire was to give the people a clean, impartial government. He intended, as much as lay in his power, to bring Alaska to the attention of the outside world. He was aware that the territory needed some legislation before people could be induced to engage in business there, and that whether any considerable immigration would come, depended a great deal on the action of congress. One thing was certain, people would not come unless they could get some sort of a title to land.

THE LUMBER INTEREST.

Governor Swineford said that the lumbermen of Michigan, now that their own forests are nearly denuded, have been looking west for a new field of operations, and Alaska, in their opinion, would be one of the great sources of supply.

"Is not Alaska too far from market?" asked the reporter.

"I do not think so," replied Governor Swineford. "They are now cutting timber on the forests bordering Lake Superior, hauling it forty to sixty miles by rail; then taking it by vessels to Kingston, Ontario; then throwing it in water again and rafting it down the rapids to Montreal; then taking it out of the water and putting it back into vessels and sailing it across the Atlantic and making plenty of money. Then Canada is practically nearer to Alaska than Chicago or Buffalo is to Lake Superior—and if Alaska is not more convenient to foreign markets than Lake Superior, I miss my calculation. If the yellow and red cedar of Alaska is what it has been represented to be, it will be worth three times as much when it gets to a foreign market as it now is on Lake Superior timber, which is ordinary white pine.

COMMERCIAL.

THURSDAY, Aug. 13.

Weather cloudy and cool.

Overland receipts include 15 cases bacon, 1 case prunes, 40 cs can goods, 1 bbl glucose, 401 kgs 10 cs syrup, 475 cs oysters, 206 sks coffee, 3 cs sausage, 5 cs cigars, 2 cs cigarettes, 40 pkgs tobacco.

The detailed estimate of the salmon pack printed in local columns this morning is probably as correct as will at any time be given. The footing quite agrees with ideas entertained by most of the trade.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past twenty-four hours: 1182 ctls wheat, 1223 bbls flour, 303 ctls oats, 200 ctls barley, 200 ctls bran, 240 ctls millstuff, 6 sks potatoes, 15 sks onions, 1543 lbs wool, 70 lbs hides, 304 cs eggs, 182 bxs fruit. Also 17.0-0 ctls wheat, 4211 lbs wool, 504 lbs hides from the Eastern section.

FREIGHTS—All attention has necessarily been in the direction of futures in the absence of open spot tonnage. For fall loading several transactions are known to have been made of late. Rates have ruled without change, although the general market may be said to be less firm, especially if influences count for anything. Ordinary iron for fall loading is still quoted 40s 3d. Tonnage to arrive continues to be freely offered, but the demand is limited. Owners exhibit considerable strength, despite the weak feeling at San Francisco and along the west coast. It will be noticed that the great bulk of tonnage en route comes from Australasia. The west coast ports now contain only a fair amount, but much more is headed that way which may later on be attracted toward our own port. Some is now offering here to come from China and Japan ports. Owners have shown no disposition to send open tonnage, so that very little may be looked for during the fall months at least. In the week the Nagpore came in under prior charter, and the new export season is introduced. The list to arrive is increased largely, being now up to 43,312 registered tons against 31,849 tons at even date last year. Then the spot list for grain comprise two vessels, one open. Rates are now about 6s 3d below those of one year ago, fall loading then quoted 32s 6d. At San Francisco almost nothing has been done in the week. Near the close an iron vessel was taken up for London loading at reported rate of 35s. Rates there of late have been given so irregular as to furnish not the least guide to a true quotation. Grain exporters have found the same difficulty in securing loading stuff. The situation is slowly arranging itself, however, and the present deadlock can hardly last the month out. With us the immediate export outlook has marked only a trifling change for the better, and that is more due to the fact that time is passing than otherwise. Additions to the en route list are still mostly for late fall loading. The wooden bark Gen. Fairchild, 1427 tons, now at San Francisco, has been taken to load wheat here.

A San Francisco dispatch to-day reports the charter there of the Br iron ship City of Benares, 1567 tons, by Balfour, Guthrie & Co. for wheat loading here; rate said to be 45s per orders.

REGISTERED TONNAGE STATEMENT.

WHEAT—As against last week the time spot quotations are all of 2½c lower. To the weekly reader this may seem enough said. The ugly feature is quite plain and the causes leading up to it almost as apparent. Principal in contributing to the lower range is the almost entire lack of any demand for cargoes. San Francisco has shown no decided value changes. Futures there are not so much lower as to cause remark, and the same difficulty in buying spot wheat is experienced. Were shippers there saddled with any quantity of spot tonnage they would soon be inquiring for northern wheat. As they have a very small quantity of tonnage they are content to idle time. There being no particular call for our wheat from that quarter the seller must look to the home buyer. The latter has no pressing need, sees no chance for profitable speculation and has no orders. It is not to be wondered at then that prices are weak. Without some improvement from abroad or in the local demand, an even lower range is not impossible. Cables for the past three days have reported firming markets, without advances. The cargoes trade does not seemingly recognize new strength as several were sold off coast in the week. It is not to be expected that August will see the trade straightened out. A good part of September will be required for the situation to develop itself. Harvests are not over in Europe, nor in this country. In the meantime the English buyer sees no opportunity for profit, the French buyer has no idea of the quantity he will require and the speculator wishes to be possessed of more definite information of a general turn. Even with no better harvest results than lately anticipated the American "visible supply" is destined to be a millstone about the neck of trade for some time. War scares have probably lost all ability to influence trade and more substantial causes must be considered. The hardening tendency noted in the English market is doubtless due to a diminution in the quantity afloat, a probable scarcity in off coast arrivals for a period, undeniable damage to South Russia crops and a growing conviction that French crops are more deficient than expected. The supply of wheat and flour afloat is now 855,000 quarters below that of one year ago, and 1,670,000 qrs below that of four months ago. As influences against improvement may be mentioned the already referred to "visible supply" and the uncertainty as to what will be carried over in this country. India comes forward also as a threatening factor, but at present there is none offered from that country at prices current, which goes to show how much the Indian supply is at our present price. Coming nearer home it is found that eastern operators have accepted too great a load and their ability to carry it is a matter of great doubt. If they fail the consequence cannot but be a bad one. The coast holder, especially he of California, has a high idea and is forcing idleness upon the exporter by refusing to sell. Our local trade is influenced to a greater or less extent by the above conditions. The absence of tonnage for immediate loading is felt, as but a small portion of the trade cares to consider San Francisco shipments. Receipts have averaged 324 tons per day, a decline from the previous week. Shipments by steamer ruled very even, but there has been no scarcity of freight room so far. Buyers have shown added indifference, and have certainly taken less, both through an actually lessened request and a disinclination on the part of holders to accept the decline. Walla Walla has sold at $1 15, but at the close this cannot be generally obtained, $1 13½ being the general bid for round lots. Valley has sold at $1 20, which figure is quoted, although some buyers bid lower. Interior mills have taken small quantities at 60c per bushel from wagons.

FLOUR—Dealers and agents have pressed supplies upon the market. This resulted in a decline of 25c during the week. The export trade is unimportant, none going foreign. Standards are now quoted $4, less 5 per cent. to trade; others $3 25@3 50.

MILLSTUFF—The local trade is of small proportions while less is being shipped. Bran is firmer. We quote jobbing prices: Bran $17@18, chop $16 50@18, shorts $16@17, middlings $18@20.

OATS—Fair business done at last week's prices. Receipts have slightly increased, while exports show no marked change, the city trade taking rather more. Best feed grades have sold at 32½@33c, fair at 31@32c, stained at 25@29c, and extra choice in a small way at 35c. These figures may be given as quotations. The San Francisco market is in better feeling because of the advance in barley.

BARLEY—Local market inactive and nominal. San Francisco is higher with an active speculative trade. Workers there have forced up values to the great embarrassment of the shorts. In the eastern section there is some request for eastern shipments.

POTATOES—Market very dull. Receipts are ample and values weak. To fill an occasional order dealers have paid 50c per sack. Sweets sold at 2½c.

ONIONS—Selling at 1½c. Dealers pay 1c for new Oregon.

FRUITS, ETC.—Apples in fair trade, choice 50@60c, and extra red 65c. Pears bring 50c for fair quality. Shippers pay 1½c per pound for selected stock. Plums drag at 1@1½c. Prunes are offering, but meet with little request. An eastern outlet is being sought. Peaches in large receipt and weak at 50@75c, Oregon preferred to California. Melons in large receipt and off to $2 75@3 per doz; musk sold at about $2 per doz. Imported sorts are found slow dealing in the past week, last received selling at: Grapes 75c@$1 12½, peaches 62½@75c, tomatoes 75c@$1 25, cantaloupes $2 75@3 50 per crate, lemons $4@4 50, limes $1 25, bananas 6@7c.

BUTTER—Choice in light supply, and all receipts have fallen away. Quote best dairy 20@22c; poor to common, 12@15c. The market is quite bare of really good grades.

POULTRY—Values have ruled steady, supplies being only about equal to demand. Chickens quoted $3@4 for old, and $2@3 for young. Ducks and geese not inquired for.

EGGS—Between lessened arrivals and a demand for shipment, stocks are about cleaned up. An advance to 18@20c is to be noted.

THE MEAT MARKET.

Quotations are prices paid to dealers by slaughterers for whole carcasses or on foot. Slaughterers have plenty offered and sales are rather slow.

BEEF—Best conditioned quoted 3½c gross.

MUTTON—Quoted 5½@6½c.

VEAL—Good conditioned 6@8c.

PORK—Prime dressed 8c.

HOGS—Small request; live 4@4½c; dressed 6½ @7c.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Government bonds strong. The stock market has been unusually irregular, and at times feverish. Total sales to-day about an average amount of business of late but calls were made to appear as large as possible by trading in small lots and accompanying transactions with a great deal of noise and apparent excitement. As a rule, the highest prices of the day were made in the first hour, and the lowest during the afternoon, the market being heavy and within a small fraction of the lowest figure of the day. Grangers were prominent for their weakness in the afternoon. St. Paul & Northwestern closed within ½ of the lowest quotations reached. Omaha preferred is also down 1½. All the old active coal stocks, except Pacific Mail, are also weaker. Western Union showing a net decline of ¾, Union Pacific 3¼ and Missouri Pacific 1 per cent.

The fact that foreign bondholders have agreed upon a reorganization scheme for the Wabash company and to a material advance in the price of both common and preferred stock of that company. The common closed with a net advance of 2¾, and preferred closed at a gain of 4 per cent. The rest of the active list presents about an equal number of advances and declines, changes, however, being for small fractions.

Mining shares showed considerable more activity and were strong, but the market was without special feature. Sales: Yellow Jacket, $1 35; California and Virginia, $2 15; Leadville, $85; Ophir, $1 45; Sierra Nevada, $9 85; Sutro Tunnel, 15c; Plymouth, $1 05@5; Bodie, $1 00; Central Arizona, 70c; Hel Elephant, 20c, and Savage, $3 40.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

WASHINGTON.

Yakima county has 1013 school children.

There are 3221 children of school age in Clarke county.

A neat little Episcopal church is being built at East Sound, on Orcas Island, under the supervision of the deanery of Western Washington.

About 40,000 bushels of wheat will be shipped from Prosser this year. The grain is raised in the Horse Heaven country, which was not acquainted with the plow two years ago.

From the recent assessment roll of Kittitas county, the following is taken: Deeded land, acres, 25,910; improved land, acres, 17,482; value of real estate, $170,09?; value of real estate improvements, $90,728; value of personal property, $625,080; total valuation, 1890,201.

The Yakima county assessor has made his report, which shows that the Northern Pacific company have accredited to them in the county 448,000 acres of unpro ved land, which is assessed at $1 an acre. The real value of their personal property is placed at $564,465, a total for the personal and real property of $,012,545. The value of all unimproved land, including railroad, is placed a. $677,-887; improved land, $110,660; personal property, $1,143,297; a total of $1,927,854. It will be seen by this that the property of the railroad company exceeds that of all individual property by $922,308.

Spokane Falls Review: Lane Gilliam returned from Colville Saturday evening, bringing specimens of rock from the new strike near that mining center that carries free gold. He informs us that the people up the country are very much excited over the new find and squads of prospectors are out in every direction locating claims. The vein of gold-bearing quartz has been discovered in a hill near the town of Colville. The silver mines are looking up finely, and seem to become richer as a greater depth is reached. The people of Colville have formed a joint stock company for the purpose of putting up a smelter. Travel north is increasing every day. Mining men who are just in report the prospects better than anything they ever saw in these parts. Undoubtedly the Colville section will be the mining camp of America next year, and the man who wants some must get in early.

OREGON.

John H. Eoltson, a pioneer of 1853, died at his home in Yamhill county, August 1, aged 74 years.

The Whitman, Tiger and Companion mines in the Pine Creek district have been bonded for $75,000 to Cincinnati capitalists for $70,000 and work on all commenced. Some rich returns are expected soon.

Huntington, on Sunday last, was the scene of a bloody fight between three Chinamen—two against one. The weapons used were knives and bars of iron, one of the Celestials being almost slashed to pieces.

A little son of W. H. Coldwell, who lives near Gold Springs, Umatilla county, tied a rag soaked with coal oil to a dog's tail the other day, and set it on fire. The dog ran into a haystack and about twenty tons of hay were burned.

Baker City Sage Brush: James W. Virtue returned last Sunday from a trip to Malheur. While at Malheur he paid a visit to the recent discoveries situated at the head of what is called Quartz gulch and prospected the ore. Mr. Virtue says the deposit is not of quartz formation, but of decomposed bedrock, and in a numerous quantity, the width of the deposit being between twenty and forty feet, and pros ecting as high as $200 and $300 in gold per ton. The owners are down to a depth of ten or twelve feet, and no signs of the deposit giving out. The only question as to the value of the find, is to what extent in depth it extends.

IDAHO.

A reporter of the Murray Sun witnessed a clean up by the Webber company a few days ago, the result of three days run. He says: All but three of the boxes were brushed, and one scoop full of gold dust after that was poured into the pan as the work progressed, until the weight was estimated to have reached about twenty pounds, the largest clean up ever made in the camp. The run commenced on Sunday evening and lasted until 5 o'clock yesterday, when the last box was cleaned up. Two shifts, and including considerable dead work. The gold is fine and comprises three varieties—the rusty shot, sheet or scot, and the rough unwashed. Reduced to dollars the output is the talk in the neighborhood of $3,800, which is of itself a handsome dividend to the owners for three day's work. Much of the lot was of a rusty and black color, but as the black cement deposit has now been passed brighter gold will be obtained than this run. The owners are highly elated over the yield and over the prospect of continuous work.

DEFT OF OPINION.

Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette: Grandiloquomy and peculiar as is the figure of Jefferson Davis, he is the natural head of the democratic party and the embodiment of its traditions and doctrine. If the party had honesty and manliness and the courage of its convictions he would be its president in the place of Grover Cleveland.

Pittsburg Dispatch: Speaker Carlisle states that he has received more than 1000 letters, representing all sections, asking him to place Morrison of Illinois, at the head of the ways and means committee. This indicates that the free traders are going to repeat their folly of getting in front of the protectionist locomotive.

Chicago Inter-Ocean: The postmaster general has struck a vital blow at the best commercial interests in the United States by refusing to obey the plainly expressed wishes of congress and transferring the mails from American to British ships. And in nearly every new arrangement he has is are delayed in their transmission.

Augusta (Ga.) Chronicle: We understand that numerous farmers favor prohibition because they believe that negro labor is demoralized by country stores that sell liquor. These farmers do not, as a rule, intend to quit drinking themselves, but desire to compel negroes by law to be sober. If some of our slanderers from the north right, this is an attempt to make negroes better than white people.

The Indianapolis Sentinel (Dem.) has this to its Washington news: "Within a few days this intelligence will leap forth in cold type: 'Of the applicants for offices who have passed the civil service requirements 75 per cent. of the republicans have been accepted and only 10 per cent. of the democrats.' There's nothing strange in this, at all. The figures indicate the intelligence and capacity of the applicants.

New York Sun: We do not know how much truth there is in the report that the practice of tracking offensive partisans has been slackened or partially abandoned, but it can not be abandoned too soon. As long as it is permitted in the hands of democratic officials appointed by the administration in the place of offensive or inoffensive partisans will be substantially tied and the party capital of the republicans increased.

Columbus (Ohio) Journal: Now this begins to sound natural! We are told by Secretary Lamar that northern men are not equal to those of the South in the matter of executing the public business. That is precisely the spirit which has dominated the "chivalric" people of the South for many years. In the light of the history of the past twenty-five years the impudence of this old rebel is best to unbeliefs.—And yet Harper's Weekly and the whole mugwump fraternity are weeping tears of joy over the complete obliteration of sectional strife.

Chicago Tribune: In relation to the denial of the prohibitionists of Ohio that the democrats are paying their expenses, and their abuse of Professor Calderwood for saying so, the professor says: "It does seem to me I ought to know what I am talking about when all the money was paid into my hands, and John G. Thompson holds the receipts." This is one of those direct statements which, even in terms of blackguardism cannot be controvert. It puts these blatant "God and Home" hypocrites into the pillory of public disgrace as objects of popular contempt.

Cincinnati Enquirer: The people refuse to be mystified in the matter of the civil service. They know that the civil service commission is a humbug combe establishment. They are not disposed to speak in whispers or beat about the bush, but they are ready to openly declare that under a democratic administration the offices ought to be held by democrats. They know that under twenty-five years of republican administration the offices were monopolized by republicans, and they believe that the whole government establishment should be in harmony with the party which is in the majority and which won at the election.

New York Herald: That remarkable scene in Westminster all bey carries us back to the past. On that black April day in 1861, when, at 4:30 o'clock the first shot was fired at Sumter by order of Beauregard, this nation needed as never before or since, a friend. With the historic abbey and its representative congregation of yesterday on our side no second shot would have been fired. The rebellion, stillborn, would have left but a million graves untenanted. But where we looked for bread we found a stone. By the queen's proclamation of May 13—fell, the confederate states were recognized and we were against with horror."

A PROPHECY OF GRANT'S ABILITY.

(Chicago Tribune.

A story of some interest is being told by a prominent gentleman in this city, which goes to show that the credit of having first discovered Gen. Grant's genius is claimed by Professor Davis, of West Point. The time is Gen. Grant graduated at West Point, Professor Davis and Lieut. Seammon, who had graduated at West Point, were professors there. The night after the class to which Grant belonged had graduated Seammon and Davis sat playing a game of whist. Davis lauded Scammon whom he considered the brightest man of the class. Scammon answered that he thought the brightest must be the one who came off with the highest honors.

"You are wrong," said Professor Davis, "I tell you the smartest man in the class is 'Little' Grant." Davis said that the reason Grant's average was so low was that he was untidy, and that he received black marks for his untidiness, which brought down his average.

Scammon forgot all about this. He went into the war, got to be brigadier-general, was captured, and held in the rebel lines. When he was finally exchanged Grant was commander-in-chief of the Union forces, and his praises were being sung throughout the whole North. On Gen. Scammon's arrival in Washington he stopped at the Astor house, bought new clothes, and started for a walk. As he wandered along Broadway, half in a dream and half awake, he felt a hand touch his shoulder, and looking around was confronted by Professor Davis.

"Whom did I say was the smartest boy in the class?" he asked off-hand.

"Why, Ulysses S. Grant," said Scammon as he suddenly recalled the long forgotten conversation. "He's a hero, isn't he?"

Relics of the Confederate Cabinet.

Cincinnati Times-Star.

The recent appointment of W. T. Hunter, of Virginia, to be collector of customs at the port of Tappahannock at a painfully small salary calls attention to the whereabouts and condition of the few remaining members of the Confederate cabinet. There were fourteen of them—Benjamin, Bragg, Breckinridge, Mallory, Memminger, Randolph, Seddon, Trenholm, Walker, Davis, Reagan, Toombs, Watts and Hunter. Of these only five now remain—Davis, Reagan, Toombs, Watts and Hunter. Of these five only three—Reagan and Toombs—were members of the original cabinet. Hunter is not only an old man of, but very much reduced in circumstances, as is shown by his willingness to accept a position which pays but about $600 a year. There are few members of the Confederate cabinet who are wealthy. Bob Toombs, who lives near Atlanta, is one. Reagan is with something, but not very much. Watts, of Alabama, and Davis, of North Carolina, though pretty old men, continue in the practice of law at their respective homes. Hunter as indicated above, is poor.
